LETTER OF REFERENCE

Jørn Bøni Hofstad, born 1996-06-07, has been employed as R&D Engineer at Nordic Semiconductor.

During his time with us, Jorn has reliably met the expectations of the position and maintained a positive and cooperative attitude.

He handled his responsibilities well, which included Delivery of SW tools need for Nordic Devices. His programming language is Rust for SW tools Deliveries. He has also played the role of Build Master (Azure and Jenkins Pipeline). He has made a significant contribution to Test Implementation and Test Automation using python. He could be counted on to complete tasks within set deadlines and instructions as needed.

He has contributed to the team environment and aided colleagues when asked for help. A key strength of Jorn was his positive attitude and calmness during releases, which allowed our team to keep projects moving forward without disruption.

In summary, Jorn fulfilled his role responsibly and worked well with the team. I believe he would be a dependable team member in any organization. If you would like further details regarding Jorn and his time with Nordic Semiconductor, please feel free to contact me.
